Purchena

€62,000

Atico ultimo

This apartment is in the village of Purchena and is central. This is a new build and is situated on the first floor.

The entrance hall has all the rooms leading off of it. The kitchen has not been fitted which gives you the added bonus of choosing your own design. The 2 bedrooms are of good size. The floors are all fully tiled and the living room, kitchen and hall have been fitted with spot lights. This property has been finished to a very high standard. There is an internal lift to the property and aircondition hot and cool has been installed. Intercom is an added bonus to this dwelling. A community room for washing machines frees up the space in the kitchen. There is a roof terrace that is shared and gives great views of the village. On the ground floor there is a shared community room that houses a kitchen, WC and chimney.

All services are connected and the paper work is all in order.
